What we offer

---

Mine4sale enable buyers to find minerals processing plants that meet the needs of their projects.

Mining Companies that have surplus plant, to be able to advertise the sale of their complete processing plants before the end of the project life cycle.

Here at Mine4Sale we understand that individual key components of processing plants are not the only part of the solution when purchasing equipment and understand the requirements of our clients so that the equipment that is purchased is part of a turn key solution.

About us

---

Mine4Sale is proudly an Australian owned company serving as agents for the sale of surplus to requirement mining and processing equipment. We are the leader in selling used and unused assets that our clients no longer require, by connecting to buyers and bringing value to any and all mining operations.

Why use us

Expertise

Our management team have been involved in the mining industry for over 20 years, involved in construction, refurbishment and relocation of all types of processing plant. We bring industry knowledge and know how.

Efficiency

Having the ability to estimate fair market value, offer additional services such as estimating relocation and refurbishment costs we can make it a very straight forward process for prospective buyers and assist with due diligence. Looking after all the inspections, advertising, managing all the site visits and communicating for all parties we save our clients all the hassle that goes with divestment of assets.

Value

Buying used and unused assets saves significant capital costs and can reduce lead time to have a project operating sooner.
